

KNIGHTS OF THE ROAD.

A Railway Train Robbed in Delaware.

A CLUE TO THE DYNAMITERS.

Dry Goods Clerks on the Warpath—The Coal Strikers—Cleveland's Letter Criticized.

Train Robbery.

WILMINGTON, Del., January 3.—A special to the Evening News gives the particulars of the robbery of the Oxford accommodation train on the Baltimore and Annapolis Railroad, last night. Two men, unknown, boarded the train at Rising Sun, Md., having bought tickets for Baltimore. They passed into the train through the last car without molesting passengers. They passed into the head of each passenger in the train, demanding, "your money or your life." When a brakeman entered the car, and was about to pull the bell rope, a revolver was pointed at his breast, and he was told: "If you give an inch I'll blow your head out." Meanwhile the other passengers concealed their watches and other valuables in their boots and were beginning to recover from the demoralization; the robbers noticed this, suddenly left the car, and jumped from the train while going at full speed.

Dry Goods Clerks.

NEW YORK, January 3.—A strong movement on the part of the Dry Goods Clerks' Association, in Grand street, backed by labor unions to obtain complete mastery of the situation, now that the discharge of holiday employees is at hand, resulted yesterday in a counter current that presages near trouble. The police were called upon to protect their property in the event of a general strike. To-day the street swarmed with police, who feared trouble. The holiday being over, employees have assumed an attitude of defiance toward the claims of their clerks, that has aroused bitter resentment. The clerks assert that the association demands the hands they had in the middle of November throughout the dull season to March, without reducing wages. Merchants yesterday resolved to stand together and resist the dictation of the clerks' association and labor unions.

A Case.

LONDON, January 3.—A passenger on the train that left Grover street for King's Cross station, a few minutes before the time of the explosion, says he saw a man who wore a ulster with a fur collar, and a soft wide-awake hat, enter the compartment next to him in which he sat; the man carried a parcel apparently of considerable weight, wrapped in cloth of American manufacture. Shortly after the train left Grover street the man let down the window of the compartment with a loud slam, got out at Farringdon street, and walked away. He was then without the parcel. The passenger thought the stranger had forgotten it, and looked over the partition between the compartments and discovered the parcel.

The Coal Strikers.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, January 3.—All is reported quiet to-day at noon among the strikers in Hocking Valley, although trouble is anticipated to-night. Bristol tunnel, near Shawnee, on the Baltimore & Ohio railway, which was burned by the strikers early yesterday morning, cannot be used for the passage of trains. The tunnel, which is about 1,000 feet long, has solid walls of coal on either side which are still burning. Three or four hundred feet of the tunnel have caved in. The incendiaries have none of them been apprehended as they did their work in disguise and cannot be identified. The Hocking Valley railroad company will this afternoon put into effect an order prohibiting the congregating of idle men about their depots and freight yards.

Cleveland's Letter.

WASHINGTON, January 3.—Recent criticisms by some of the members of Congress upon Governor Cleveland's civil service letter, were made the topic of an Associated Press interview with Prof. J. M. Gregory, civil service commissioner, to-day. In response to an inquiry, he said: "I have read carefully Governor Cleveland's letter to George William Curtis, and it seems to me an honest exposition of a sincere and settled conviction with no hidden meaning, and no contemplated afterthought. The paragraph relating to those who have used their places for party purposes, which to some of his critics appear to be designed as a loophole for wide partisan proscription, are altogether too large and plain for such construction. They are so open, frank and fearless, as to furnish all thought of their hiding anything sinister and malignant."

Habitual Constipation.

Is a prolific source of misery and many ills, giving rise to Headache, Dizziness, Fever, Nervousness, Restlessness, Biliousness, Indigestion, Stomachic, etc. The bitter, cathartic, Laxative, pills, salts and draughts formerly used to relieve the sufferer, only aggravate the disease and sicken the stomach. All who are afflicted in that way, know the importance of a remedy pleasant to the palate, harmless in its nature, and truly beneficial in its action. To Jail.

CINCINNATI, January 3.—Police Lieut. Muller was sentenced in the United States court to twelve months in Clark county jail for imprisonment in Hammond street police station house, a number of voters, and preventing them from voting. At the prisoner's request the sentence was changed to make the place of imprisonment Hamilton (this) county.

Boston, January 3.—Active friends of temperance are busily engaged arranging an organization to tide the reform over the present critical stage. The movement culminated yesterday in this city, when the national league (non-partisan and not sectarian) for the suppression of the liquor traffic was formed. The platform of principles and objects was circulated. Twenty-six States were represented by prominent names.

FREDERICK, Md., January 3.—In the southern section of Frederick County last night, ten minutes after 9, a shock was felt supposed to be an earthquake. It caused great consternation among the people. At Buckeystown, Limekiln Switch, Hicksville, Adams-town, Greenfield Mills and other points the shock was very perceptible.

A Minister Designs.

PARIS, January 3.—Evening announcements that General Campeon has resigned the portfolio of Minister of War, because Prime Minister Ferry demanded that more reinforcements be sent to Tonquin. Campeon refused to accede, assigning as a reason that such action would compromise the mobilization of the army. General Lowell will probably succeed Campeon.

The Internal Machinery.

Even when we go to sleep, the complicated apparatus of the inner man is continually at work. Heart, lungs, liver, kidneys and all, keep at work from birth until death. How important it is that all these should be in perfect order! Let any of them run down, or let the blood become impoverished, and there is disease and decay. But Brown's Iron Bitters is the sure restorative. Witness, for instance, the case of Mrs. Gillespie of San Antonio, Texas, who was for a long time a great sufferer. She says, "I have used Brown's Iron Bitters for dyspepsia and general debility with great benefit."

Grant & Ward Crookedness.

NEW YORK, January 3.—There was a hearing to-day before the referee on the application of Jerome B. Chaffee, "Buck" Grant's father-in-law, to determine the title to securities to the amount of $500,000 placed in the hands of young Grant and by him turned over to the firm of Grant & Ward. The examination of U. S. Grant, jr., was resumed. He had decided to make an assignment, but tried to get back the securities in question to put them in the general fund of the estate, and then make an assignment. The securities were secured before the assignment and then witness quietly had them watched until David made a demand when witness surrendered the keys of the safe and box. Witness had one or two months ago received and corrected the contract account received from Ward since the assignment and witness had corrected and returned the same. On that account were new erasures of the amounts of checks paid Chaffee. Everything in the account was in the handwriting of Ferdinand Ward. Witness had never known any government contract or direct dealings with government. Witness saw Ward the day after the failure, and asked him about the affairs. Ward's nerves were unstrung, and he cried a great deal. Ward said he had been a very great rascal; that he had robbed every member of his family; that he had robbed totally, and he humbly admitted it. I told him in reply, said witness, that I believed he was a scoundrel, and the most he could do would be to tell the truth. He took Chaffee's funds as late as November, because he would have failed then. Witness had no idea of the magnitude of the so-called government contracts until after the failure. Up to the day of the failure he believed the firm very rich. He looked over the surplus which was large, and his personal account was a good one. Fish, Grant and Ward were the first managers. Witness put in $100,000 cash, and supposed Ward and Fish did, but had since found that Ward put up worthless securities, and Fish put in notes of Ward, and handed to members of the firm. Witness supposed his part was to find business, but soon found himself reduced to the position of doing nothing. General Grant seldom came to the office, but each month would ask how we were getting along. Ward was the man who acted for the firm.

Montana Weather.

HELENA, Mont., January 3.—Reports from Northern Montana, the Teton country and east of Benton, and in the Judith Basin, are as favorable as could be expected, considering the severity of the storm. Granville Stuart, President of the Montana Stock Growers' Association, states that the stock has not suffered much in Meagher County. The editor of the Montana Mining and Stock Journal told your representative that the stock about here had suffered much. If the cold snap had been continued, or should be repeated soon, there would be the greatest loss known in years. Beaverhead and Gallatin Counties report severe storms and heavy losses. The ranges between Benton and Sun River suffered great hardship on account of the lack of grass and water. Many of the Piegan Indians are reported frozen to death. The losses here consisted for the most part of frozen feet, ears and fingers.

A BUTTE HORROR!

Two Men Crushed to a Shapeless Mass

IN THE MAGNA CHARTA MINE.

The Earthquake Horror—Terrible Loss of Life and Property—Miscellaneous News.

A Butte Horror.

BUTTE, Mont., January 4.—The Miner this morning publishes the following account of the accident at the Magna Charta mine, at Walkerville, yesterday: It is our painful duty to report an accident in the hoisting shaft of the Magna Charta, by which two unfortunate men lost their lives. It occurred in the following manner: Three men working on a contract to sink the shaft from the 600 station, having worked their night's shift, at 7 o'clock yesterday morning entered the cage to ascend. Their names were James Tippet, John Bray and William H. Bray, the last named were brothers. While sitting down in the station, waiting for the cage to descend, all three complained to the pump man, James Bullman, of headache and dizziness, which may be attributed to the fumes from the charges they had used in blasting. The cage is made secure by guard bars placed on its north and south sides. One of these was in place when the cage started, and John Bray stood securely on that side, but on the opposite side the two others had neglected to lower the bar to its rest, and they held on to it in an upright position. When they ascended to the pump man, the cage, which seemed to have overpowered them, it is supposed they fell and there being no guard to hold them in the cage, they dropped between it and the timbers. The produced a heavy strain upon the cable as there was but eight inches of space between the cage and shaft, and the former in grinding past them reduced the poor fellows almost to a pulp. When the cage arrived at the landing place, John Bray was found to be the sole occupant and he was in a kneeling posture, holding on to the bar with a death clutch and perfectly unconscious. The pumpman at the 600-foot level, hearing the fall of the mangled bodies, supposed some earth had fallen through the bottom, fifteen feet below his station, he first found a gum boot and then came across the crushed and mutilated bodies. He immediately rang for assistance, and the cage was lowered with three men to render aid. On reaching the bottom of the shaft, they found the bodies in so mangled a condition that it was necessary to gather them up in blankets. They rang for more help and superintendent Hall was notified of the tragedy. The remains were taken to the Alice hospital, and Coroner Whitford was summoned. An inquest was held and the facts as we have given them, detailed. James Tippet was of English birth, aged 30, and has three brothers in the camp. Wm. Bray was born in Humboldt, Mich., where his parents reside, and was 19 years of age. The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock to-day from the Alice hospital. The last named being a member of the Ancient Order of Foresters, the members of the Butte lodge will attend.

Disastrous Blaze.

PATMOUTH, Mass., January 3.—A fire which started in the picker rooms of the works of the Plymouth Cordage company this afternoon, destroyed the picker room building and two large manufacturing buildings filled with valuable machinery and combustible material. The third James Tippet was saved by the utmost exertion of the firemen. The operatives barely had time to save their lives. Freeman Joyce, a cripple in the picker-room, was rescued, badly burned, and probably will not recover. James O'Neil was badly burned about the hands and arms, and Chas. Peterson was severely burned on the hands and face. The large building burned was of brick, five stories high, about 150x80 feet. There was a large quantity of imported hemp and manufactured stock on hand. Loss to the company, about $400,000; insured for $350,000. Two hundred hands are thrown out of employment.

A Plucky Woman.

NEW YORK, January 3.—The wife of Dr. Waterman Fleming was in her rooms this evening. A lace curtain caught fire from the gas burners. Mrs. Fleming pulled the burning curtain down and attempted to trample out the flames. Her hair and clothing caught fire, which also extended to the furniture. Her husband's mother was lying ill and helpless on the upper floor. Mrs. Fleming closed the doors, so the old lady might not be alarmed. The burned lady sent in a telegraphic alarm to the police and the fire department and pluckily rang up the servants, who succeeded in getting a neighbor to carry Dr. Fleming's mother out. The physician's wife was badly burned about the face, and the damage to the furniture and fixtures is estimated at $5,000.

The Bonded Whisky Question.

WASHINGTON, January 3.—Secretary McCulloch to-day gave a hearing to Senator Beck and Representative Thompson, of Kentucky, and a committee representing the whisky interests, in regard to the practical extension of the bonded period on distilled spirits. The Secretary says the committee merely asked that he deal with the question with as much liberality as possible, under the opinion of the Attorney-General. He considered their request reasonable and would issue regulations bearing on the subject early next week.

IRISH REPUBLICANS.

An Appeal to Their Patriotism and Devotion.

NEW YORK, January 3.—The following address is issued to the Irish Republican League of the United States:

Fellow Countrymen:—Now that the great political contest through which the country has recently passed is ended, and people once more have resumed their ordinary avocations and settled down to the every-day business of life, it may not be out of place to address you, and partly sum up the results of your noble labors in the cause of equal rights to all men, and protection to American labor and American industries. You have cause to feel proud of the results of your patriotic fight, even though victory has not crowned your efforts. You have demonstrated that you are free and independent men, above party prejudices, disdaining the control of political bosses and able to think and act for yourselves when the interests of your race and the welfare of your adopted country are involved. Your heroic action has proclaimed to the American people that the "Irish vote" is no longer in the pockets of political demagogues, many of them not of our race, who peddled and bartered them to gain their selfish and unworthy ends. Look back to the days of slavery; the wages of labor then and now. The nation's prosperity during these twenty-four years is the advertisement of civilization, and is in a great measure due to our protective tariff, which has been the cause of lifting into prominence the west and south, as manufacturing centres, as well as extending those at the north and east. Shall these industries be allowed to suffer from the machinations of free traders, backed by the influence of British gold? Even now, from all sides come doubt and uncertainty. Many of our factories are running on half time, while numbers of others are liable to be shut down at any moment. Trade of all kinds is depressed, caused in part by overproduction and in part by doubt and uncertainty as to what action the party who are about to assume the charge of our tariff laws. Now that we have sustained defeat and happen to be, for the time being, in the ranks of the minority, let us show our manhood and steadfast adherence to principle. Let us reorganize and stand bravely, resolutely on guard. The enemy is still in our front; English influence and English intrigue are at work in our midst. They have gained a foothold in the country, a fact made manifest by the exultation of the English journals over the result of the recent election. We need no other warning then to stimulate us to renewed action and vigilance. Let us then organize in every State of the Union, now is the time to show our patriotism and prove it is not mere emoluments of office that inspire us to action. Let us show to our fellow-citizens that we are men fit to be trusted and that we have the true interests of the country at heart. Although we have been defeated, still the principles for which we struggle so manfully are deeply seated in the hearts of the American people, and yet will be vindicated by the free exercise of the ballot at the polls.

All clubs wishing to affiliate with the League should at once get into communication with the secretary, Hon. Richard Fanning, Columbus, O., who will furnish them with the necessary instructions for reorganization. (Signed,) M. J. KIRWIN, Chairman, New York. RICHARD J. FANNING, Secretary, Columbus, O.

Snow in Wyoming.

RAWLINS, Wyo., January 3.—Snow has fallen so as to obstruct the range in Carbon County or within 100 miles of Rawlins as the central point. Sweetwater Valley is comparatively clear of snow. No stock is dying, except the usual loss among the trail cattle. The snow is reported deep in the Northern Johnson country. Journal specialists state that the snow is from two to four feet deep in Tremont County, from the Big Wind River as far north as Mootz. Stock men in this section consider the present outlook as bright. The percentage of losses is less than usual this season. The ranges in Northwest Colorado are comparatively free of snow, which, this season, is only heavy in belts for a short distance, and does not affect the range as a whole.

Result of a Debauch.

BAY CITY, Mich., January 3.—Early this morning a woman of the town named Lou Hall, wife of the forger, Frank Hall, now in the penitentiary, had her skull fractured, and her throat cut by one John Knigge. The woman is still living, but cannot survive. The tragedy was the result of a debauch.
